

A Beautiful Home for the Incurable (Paperback)

By Professor of Economics Ian Walker

iUniverse, United States, 2006. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 223 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Start with an agoraphobe, a narcoleptic, a temporary amnesiac, and an apraxic who cannot perform physical actions upon request, add a ruthless identity thief with a taste for fine food and you get a raucous comedy that explores both the idiosyncrasies of human nature and the power of love. Bunny Temple is an agoraphobe living in New York. Once a week he organizes a gathering of his friends, each of whom has been relegated to the sidelines of society. What makes this get-together different is that Bunny has become the victim of an identity theft that has left him penniless and on the verge of expulsion from the safe harbor of his apartment. When the four decide to find the thief themselves, the amateur sleuths end up with more than they had bargained for. The NJ Star Ledger described A Beautiful Home as endearing and winsome. The Alameda Star Ledger declared This one is a winner! An empathetic, witty look [that] finds the humor in the relationships of four well-drawn characters, writes the Montclair Times. And The Mountainview...
