Munshiram Manoharlal Publishers Pvt Ltd, New Delhi, 1992. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. First. Among the living religious traditions of India, only that of the Jainas includes a substantial number of women in the community of religious aspirants who renounce the household life and take the vows of mendicancy. For the Svetambaras, the renunciation necessary for such attainment is neither affected nor confirmed by the absence of clothes; Svetambara monks therefore go about clad in cotton robes. Both sects agree, however, that nudity is not permitted for women under any circumstances. This necessitates the conclusion that for the Digambaras a woman cannot attain moksa, while for the Svetambaras she can. From this conclusion follows a heated debate on a question of fundamental importance, namely, the manner in which gender-based differences of biology and life experience may condition or limit an individual's ability to accomplish the ultimate religious goal. In addressing that question, the Jaina thinkers whose words are here translated demonstrate through logical analysis a level of insight into the...
