

Low Carbon City: Policy, Planning and Practice

By A.K. Jain

Discovery Publishing House Pvt. Ltd., 2009. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. While everyone is concerned with Global Warming, Low Carbon Development, Green Development, Clean Development Mechanism and Tradable Carbon Development, most of the interventions are at the Scale or individual buildings. Not much attention has been given on adoption of ecologically compatible practices at the Urban scale. The urban planning and development Play a crucial role in environmentally sustainable future. As such, there is an urgent need to adopt a systematic and structured approach towards Clean Development Mechanism in urban planning and development, housing, services and construction. The cornerstone in making the Indian Settlement as low carbon is to adopt Integrated approach towards Ecology and environment. The urban Environment cuts across the various aspects of the environment, the habitat, Transportation and services management. The Natural resources include : the elements of Air and noise, Water (water bodies, river, lakes, drains and ponds-and ground water) and land with reference to open spaces, green areas and other surface and sub-surface conditions. The composite built environment includes the Environmental infrastructure-water supply, sewerage, Solid waste disposal and transportation network. The future of Indian City lies in adoption of environment friendly policies, plans and programmes and...
