Excerpt from Syllabus of Lectures: On Nineteenth Century English Literature A life free from general movements. He lived among the untrodden ways. His soul was as a star and dwelt apart. Length of life (1770-1850) suggestive of other characteristics. Something large and simple reflecting like aspects of Nature. A mountain slope of the Lake Country, bare of tree or man, subdued in color to the heather s purple, and lighted with a tempered and brooding sun - silent, solemn, serene - yet open to the sky and breathed upon by the unfettered winds. His two most characteristic lines: The silence that is in the starry sky, The sleep that is among the lonely hills. Wordsworth, born at Cockermouth, Cumberland. Child father to the man. An impetuous healthy boy apparently only unusual for a mystical sense of the unreality of Nature. At times would catch hold of tree to convince himself of reality. The sky seemed not a sky Of earth and with what motion moved the clouds. Cambridge (1787-1791) had little influence. Noble lines on Newtons statue,...
